Is that all for today?

A Think about the last time you bought a gift for someone and then tell your partner the answers to the questions.

- 1 Who did you buy the gift for?
- 2 Why did you buy it?
- 3 What did you buy?
- 4 Which shop did you buy it in?
- 5 How much was it?
- 6 Did the recipient like the gift?

B Read the dialogue and complete the gaps with the words in the box.

Assistant Good morning. Can I <sup>1</sup>_____ you?
Customer Oh hi. Yes, I'm looking for the Twilight: Eclipse DVD. Have you <sup>2</sup>_____ it?
Assistant Yes, it's just <sup>3</sup>_____ there, on the top shelf.
Customer Oh yes, I see it. Hmm, I can't see a price on it. How <sup>4</sup>_____ is it?
Assistant It's £19.99.
Customer Actually, it's a birthday <sup>5</sup>_____ for my friend. Can I get my money <sup>6</sup>_____ if someone else buys it for him?
Assistant Yes, if you keep your receipt, you can get a full <sup>7</sup>_____.
Customer Great! I'll <sup>8</sup>_____ it.
Assistant Is there anything <sup>9</sup>_____ you need?
Customer No, that's <sup>10</sup>_____, thanks.
Assistant That's £19.99 then, please.
Customer Here you <sup>11</sup>_____.
Assistant Thank you. Here's a penny <sup>12</sup>_____ and I'll put your receipt in the bag.
Customer Cheers.
Assistant Thanks very much. Goodbye.
Customer Bye.

C It's your teacher's birthday tomorrow. You and your partner are going to buy him / her a gift. Decide on answers to the questions together.

- 1 How much are you going to spend on the gift?
- 2 What are you going to buy?
- 3 Which shop are you going to buy it from?
- 4 Why do you think he / she will like the gift?

D Now imagine that you go to the shop to buy the gift for your teacher. Create a dialogue with your partner, similar to the model above. One of you is the assistant and the other is the customer.
