

A In regions of the world which suffer from natural disasters, it's essential for people to be well-prepared in case their area is affected. Many people put together a Survival Kit, with important items to help them survive a disaster. Discuss the following questions in your group and make a note of your answers.

- 1 How much water do you think each person should have in the Survival Kit?
- 2 What kinds of food do you think should be in the Survival Kit?
- 3 What first-aid items do you think should be in the Survival Kit?
- 4 What other items should be in the Survival Kit?
- 5 What kind of container should people use for their Survival Kit?
- 6 Where in the home should people keep the Survival Kit?

B Imagine that you work for an environmental charity and have been given the task of producing a leaflet to give people information about what they should do to prepare for a natural disaster. Use the information from A to help you plan the content of your leaflet and then work in your group to produce it.