

Ideas for short revision activities you could do at the start or end of a class, or give to students to do themselves.

- 1 Write down your ten favourite foods and write an adjective to describe each one, e.g.
pork tasty
sugar sweet
- 2 Write a conversation between you and a waiter in a café. Write six sentences. Use the phrases from Student's Book page 54 to help you. When you finish, practise saying the sentences out loud, e.g.
Waiter: Can I help you?
You: Yes, please. I'd like the tuna salad.
- 3 Write down food words in two groups, e.g.
Healthy Unhealthy
fruit take-away
banana chips
Can you think of more groups for the words? By colour? By size?
- 4 Write eight sentences giving advice about staying healthy. Read the sentences and try to remember them, e.g.
You should eat fruit and vegetables.
- 5 It can help you to remember words if you write them down in different colours. Make a list of ten words from Student's Book Unit 5 and write every word in a different colour from the word before.
